Amprod, LLC Acquires Simmtech, Expanding North American Presence & Capabilities

Springfield, MO – Amprod, LLC (ensightsolutions.us), a leading provider of industrial automation and systems integration services, has acquired Simmtech Process Engineering (simmtech.ca), an established Canadian systems integrator known for its technical expertise and strong customer partnerships across North America.

This acquisition strengthens Amprod's presence in Canada and enhances its ability to deliver end-to-end automation, integration and smart manufacturing solutions to more customers in more regions.

"Simmtech has built an amazing reputation for delivering high-quality, custom automation solutions," Tiffani Claussen, Amprod LLC CEO says. "We are excited to welcome their talented team into the Amprod family. Together, we will provide even greater value, technical depth and support to both of our customers."

Simmtech will now be Simmtech Process Solutions, a part of EnSight Solutions, the Amprod LLC division devoted to manufacturing hygienic food processing solutions.

Both Simmtech and Amprod vendors and customers can expect continuity in service, relationships and project execution—now backed by the expanded resources and expertise of the Amprod network.

"Joining Amprod is an exciting new chapter for Simmtech," said Iain Gilmour, Simmtech President. "This move allows us to scale faster, access broader technologies and better support our customers' evolving needs across industries."

The acquisition is effective as of May 15, 2025. Both companies are committed to a seamless integration and continued excellence in service delivery and support.
